

Beefbar Milan.
PHOTO: FRANCIS AMIAND

5 of the Most Beautiful New Restaurants in Milan to Visit During Salone del Mobile

From Humbert & Poyet's swanky Beefbar Milano to Genius Loci Architettura's sustainable design for Horto

BY SHELBY BLACK

APRIL 10, 2023

As the who's who of the art and design world flocks to Milan next week for the annual Salone del Mobile fair, Galerie has rounded up a slew of the most beautiful new restaurants for visitors to enjoy. A testament to the fashionable Italian city's reputation for pushing boundaries in creative fields, these five new dining destinations blend mouthwatering fare with striking design and are all must-visits for an aperitivo or special dinner to celebrate any occasion.

Beefbar Milan by Humbert & Poyet.
PHOTO: FRANCIS AMIAND

1. Beefbar Milano

To craft the new Beefbar Milano, located inside Milan's incredible chapel of the former Archiepiscopal Seminary, interior designers and architects Emil Humbert and Christophe Poyet of the firm Humbert & Poyet took inspiration from the chic aesthetic of 1940s and '60s Milanese style. Honoring the house of worship's original architecture, the firm incorporated a rich color palette through shades of black, green, white, and burgundy, which pop against the space's terrazzo flooring and dark walnut panelling. Furnishings such as Verde Alpi marble tables and chairs made by late architect Vico Magistretti fill the space, while bronze and frosted glass Asterios lamps crafted by Humbert and Poyet themselves hang overhead. An eclectic group of artworks join triptych sconces by designer Ignazio Gardella on the wall.

With its latest location in Milan, the restaurant stays true to its mission of celebrating the world's finest selections of meats through an array of inspiring dishes. Bringing a unique Italian fare to this menu, highlights include wagyu and veal meatballs, pâtes à la carbonara au bœuf de Kobe, and risotto with lemon with braised veal osso buco.